To whom it may concern,

We hereby confirm that our in-use off-road vehicles are exempt from CARB (California Air Resources Board) certification, as they do not meet the specific requirements outlined for certification under the Act. Our vehicles are classified in a manner that exempts them from the certification requirements, and as such, we are not required to obtain CARB certification for their operation.

We have reviewed the applicable regulations and determined that our vehicles fall outside the scope of those requiring certification. We are committed to ensuring compliance with all other relevant environmental regulations and will continue to monitor any changes to legislation that may affect our operations.

Thank you,

Use of this system constitutes your agreement to the service conditions in the current FedEx Service Guide, available on fedex.com. FedEx will not be responsible for any claim in excess of $100 per package, whether the result of loss, damage, delay, non-delivery, misdelivery, or misinformation, unless you declare a higher value, pay an additional charge, document your actual loss and file a timely claim. Limitations found in the current FedEx Service Guide apply. Your right to recover from FedEx for any loss, including intrinsic value of the package, loss of sales, income interest, profit, attorney's fees, costs, and other forms of damage whether direct, incidental, consequential, or special is limited to the greater of $100 or the authorized declared value. Recovery cannot exceed actual documented loss. Maximum for items of extraordinary value is $1,000, e.g. jewelry, precious metals, negotiable instruments and other items listed in our Service Guide. Written claims must be filed within strict time limits, see current FedEx Service Guide.
